Headline:
Sunny spells and scattered showers developing.

Today:
Cloudy this morning but mainly dry. This afternoon sunny spells and scattered showers develop, with an odd heavier shower possible. Generally feeling rather cool, despite the light winds. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Initial showers will quickly die away, leaving long clear spells. Air temperatures will fall close to freezing, and in rural locations a slight ground frost is likely. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Sunday:
Sunshine and scattered showers, before late afternoon a band of sometimes heavy rain arrives in the west. This rain band, accompanied by strong winds, reaches remaining areas in the evening. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunny spells and showers on Monday and Tuesday, some heavy with a chance of thunder. Further sunshine and showers for Wednesday, but generally lighter than previous days. Feeling cool throughout.
